

SULLIVAN’S ISLAND, SOUTH CAROLINA

Sullivan’s Island easily qualifies as a community for FCC allotment purposes. Sullivan’s Island is an incorporated community located in Charleston County, South Carolina.

The island was known as O'Sullivan's Island from an early date, because of the Irishman, Captain Florence O'Sullivan, who was stationed as a lighthouse keeper in the late seventeenth century. Sullivan's Island was at first the main entrance for approximately 40% of the slave trade with the colonies using the Middle Passage.

On June 28, 1776, a makeshift log fort was held by Continental forces against a sustained siege and bombardment by British forces under Lord Cornwallis. Cornwallis was attempting to enter the harbor to lay siege to and conquer the City of Charleston. The Battle of Fort Moultrie was one of the most decisive battles of The American Revolution. The battle was commemorated by the addition of a white palmetto tree beside the blue and white crescent moon on the state flag of South Carolina. The victory is still celebrated every June 28th, known as Carolina day.

The history of the island has been dominated by the extensive coastal defense works at Fort Moultrie, which served as the base of command for the defenses of the City of Charleston until it was closed in the late 1940s.

Edgar Allan Poe was stationed at Fort Moultrie from 1827 to 1828. The island was the setting of his short story The Gold Bug. The town library, situated in a refurbished military battery, is named after the poet.

For most of its history, the town on the island was known as Moultrieville, on the south-west half of the island. Another community on the north-east portion, Atlanticville, was established and later merged to form the Town of Sullivan's Island.

The present Sullivan's Island lighthouse, the most powerful in the world, was built in 1962. The 140-foot-tall triangular building boasts an elevator instead of the typical spiral staircase. In May 2006, the Town of Sullivan's Island became the first municipality in South Carolina to ban smoking in all public places.

The Town of Sullivan's Island was incorporated in 1975. The U.S. Postal Services associates ZIP code 29482 with Sullivan's Island. Sullivan's Island is an incorporated community with a 2000 Census population of 1,911. Sullivan's Island is home to over 80 businesses.

Sullivan's Island has its own elected Mayor and six member town council. The town council meets on the third Tuesday each month at Town Hall to review and enact local legislation. Village departments include Administration, Building and Zoning, Fire & Rescue, Police, Maintenance, Town Council, Water & Sewer and Legal & Municipal Court.

Sullivan's Island has schools, parks, and a library located in the town. The Sullivan's Island Fire and Rescue Department was organized in 1948 to protect the lives and property of the citizens of the Town of Sullivan's Island. Started as a volunteer fire department, it currently has a paid staff consisting of Chief, Training Officer, and Six Shift Personnel. The Department has 41 volunteers on its roster. Sullivan's Island

Elementary School provides education to approximately 347 students in grades Kindergarten through 5th grade.

Today, Sullivan's Island has miles of wide sandy beaches and a large number of beachfront rental homes. The Sullivan's Island/Edgar Allen Poe Library, located at 1921 I'on Ave., is a branch of The Charleston County Library System.
