

*John Reeves Raese
Post Office Box 872
Morgantown, West Virginia 26507*

August 5, 2005

To Whom It May Concern:

On May 2, 2000, John R. Raese and David A. Raese, as Grantors, created the Descendants Trust under West Virginia law. The Trust is irrevocable and not subject to alteration or amendment. The Trust is an estate-planning device designed to provide economic benefits to the lineal descendants of the Grantors and to avoid certain assets becoming part of the taxable estates of the Grantors. The Trustee is Lauren M. Kelley. The Grantors have no power to remove the Trustee or control her actions. The Trustee may be removed only by Peter S. Broberg upon a determination of "adequate cause," as that term is defined in Section IV.F. of the Trust.

The Trust was not created to evade the FCC's multiple ownership rules.

Other than the Trust, neither Ms. Kelley nor Mr. Broberg has any familial, business or financial relationship to the Grantors or to the beneficiaries of the Trust.

A large, stylized handwritten signature of John R. Raese, written in black ink, with a horizontal line drawn across the middle of the signature.

John R. Raese, Co-Grantor