

Extraordinary circumstances warranting continued operations at variance from the Commission's Rules:

The license for Station K08EM was inadvertently allowed to expire, and the Commission has granted an experimental STA to provide public service. The station provides the signal of a Denver network affiliate television station to an isolated mountain community, and the Commission has granted a series of STAs to preserve this essential service. It is in the public interest to continue this service through grant of an extension of the STA until such time as a window opens and we can file to regularize the service with a replacement license.
