

EXHIBIT 1
(Application Background)

WHEC-TV, LLC (the “Licensee”), the licensee of Digital Television Station WHEC-TV, Rochester, New York (Facility ID No. 70041) (the “Station”), hereby submits an application for a minor modification in order to construct an auxiliary (backup) antenna for the Station. Although the antenna subject to this application has long been in place and able to be used for broadcasting, the Station, based on a recent review of its records, has not used that antenna since December 2009 (for approximately 45 minutes) and, prior to that, since August 2004 (for approximately one hour). In addition, as of this date, the Station does not have any record that the antenna is currently licensed, which means the Station could not use the antenna without prior FCC approval (barring emergency circumstances).

While the Station is not subject to repacking itself, the Licensee recognizes that a licensed auxiliary antenna may be useful to facilitate any future work on or near the Station’s primary facility or to otherwise limit any disruption to providing broadcast service to the public. Accordingly, the Station hereby requests a construction permit for the existing antenna, based on the parameters set forth in this application. If granted, the Licensee also intends to promptly submit a license to cover application, so that the Station may have a licensed backup facility going forward.
