

Explanation for Silent Notice

The station went off the air September 6, 2017, when it lost power because of Hurricane Irma. The licensee also needs to reconfigure its delivery of the signal to the station because its primary feed to the station depended on the operation of WMEI which has been relinquished in the reverse auction and lost service before the planned termination date because of Hurricane Irma. The licensee's efforts to replace the WMEI feed and return the station to the air have been delayed by widespread power outages and other damage following Hurricane Irma.