

WQQZ-CD previously filed a request for STA to remain silent because of hurricane damage and that request remains pending. The amendment provides an update to the information previously filed. The information in that prior request remains true, and the licensee has not been able to resume operations. A copy of the previously filed exhibit describing the hurricane damage is attached. Although there is no obvious damage to equipment inside the transmitter building, because of the lack of electric service to the area, Licensee has been unable to make a thorough assessment of the damage. Electric service to the area was restored recently and Licensee has begun making plans to complete that assessment and to arrange for a tower crew to remount the station's antenna, which was blown sideways in the hurricane, and assess and repair any damage to the transmission line, couplings, and brackets. Licensee will participate in the early repack of Puerto Rico TV stations and anticipates returning to the air on its new channel in July.
