

WKHR-FM RF Compliance Statement

The FCC's RF Worksheets that accompany FCC Form 303-S state the following:

WORKSHEET #1: ENVIRONMENTAL

In the event there has been no material change in a station's RF environment since the station last received a grant of a license application or a license renewal application, the licensee may certify its compliance with RF exposure limits based on the information submitted with such application. In the event that there has been a material change in the station's RF environment since such application was granted, the licensee should follow the directions below to determine whether the station complies with RF exposure limits.

The Chief Operator for WKHR-FM has determined that operations of this transmitter site continue as it did during the station's last license renewal and no additional signals been added to the tower. Further, all required signage is in plain view about the tower and access to the general public is prohibited.
