

Our programming delivery is being changed and there has been a delay in the installing of the circuit. It is not expected that this will be a length silent period.