

Hitquake Community Radio Network Purposes and Objectives

Hitquake Community Radio Network is a nonprofit community radio station that aims to help uplift the communities in which it will serve by broadcasting inspirational programming within its format.

Our objectives are to provide inspirational and informative programming to the public and provide opportunities and services to those in need. We seek to offer a voice to those who feel voiceless and to support our audience with positive and uplifting broadcasting.

We will meet this objective by having both local and national programming that will provide enlightened and resourceful messages for our audience. We will also feature educational and charitable organizations to help the needs of the audience in which we serve.

Programming will be under the responsibility of the Program Director and will have the oversight of the elected board members.
