We had hoped that the CP extension that was granted for the digital flash cut CP for KRKG-LP would have given us the additional time to allow us to substitute a digital companion channel application for the flash cut. But, now that I see how you are viewing it, I see your point and agree.

We will withdraw the companion channel application and surrender the license for KRKG-LP.

If you have questions or need us to do anything else, let me know.

Subject: 0000163954 - No Valid License

Good morning,

I have been reviewing 0000163954 and found that it appears to be an attempt to file a digital companion channel against a license that is not valid. As an analog license without a valid digital permit, its license has now expired. There is thus no valid authorization against which a digital companion channel can be granted.

The companion channel application should be withdrawn. If you have questions, please contact Shaun Maher.

Thank you.
