

KUFR Salt Lake City Extraordinary Circumstances Exhibit:

The current licensed KUFR transmitter site is on the South Temple Tower building in Salt Lake City, UT. The landlord has notified Family Stations, Inc. that they are renovating the building and the roof of the building from commercial to residential and will be cutting power to the building to facilitate these renovations. FSI has an agreement with Wells Fargo Center to locate an antenna to a pole atop their facility several blocks away from South Temple Tower to keep KUFR on the air. Equipment is on-hand to construct the STA facility. The timeliness of filing is to avoid being off the air in the winter months with inclement weather should the current location cut power to the building before a temporary facility could be constructed. A Nicom BKG77 (Single Bay) antenna is proposed.