Georgia Television, LLC (“Licensee”), licensee of WSB-TV, Atlanta, Georgia (the “Station”), provides additional information regarding the programming the Station aired to meet the educational and informational needs of children. Licensee aired an average of three hours of Core Programming each week throughout the year, except in two instances when Station personnel was unable to reschedule the programs in accordance with FCC rules.¹ Licensee respectfully asserts that it has met its obligation to provide educational and informational programming and non-broadcast efforts that serve children in the Atlanta market.

In 2022, in addition to the regularly scheduled Core Programming, Licensee aired five episodes of Core Programming that were not regularly scheduled. Licensee also aired a substantial amount of public affairs and local news segments that served the educational and informational needs of children sixteen years of age and younger. Station personnel identified at least 95 such segments that cover a range of issues faced by children, including healthcare, technology, personal safety, and education. In addition, the station aired throughout the year public service announcements (“PSAs”) that addressed educational and informational issues relevant to Atlanta children. Those local news segments and PSAs, which totaled approximately three hours, supplemented the Station’s broadcast of Core Programming.

The Licensee also undertakes non-broadcast efforts that supplement and enhance the Station’s children’s educational and informational television programming. For example, the WSB-TV Family 2 Family project, which launched in 1986, includes prime-time Family 2 Family specials, deeply discounted tickets to family-friendly events and activities, and a public service campaign. In addition, the Station’s annual “Stuff the Bus” initiative collects and delivers school supplies to hundreds of students across the Atlanta market.

For the foregoing reasons, Licensee respectfully contends that throughout 2022 it aired a sufficient assortment of different types of educational and informational programming that demonstrates a level of commitment to educating and informing children that is at least equivalent to airing three hours per week of Core Programming.

¹ The instant report identifies fourteen episodes of children’s programs that were not broadcast in their entirety. In each case, the children’s program joined in progress due to a preceding live sports program having aired longer than scheduled. In all but two of those cases, the Station broadcast the majority of the duration of the children’s program.
