

The licensee requests an STA to return to the air until it can construct the facilities in its recently filed construction permit application.