Cherry Valley, California
Channel 231LP100 (94.1 MHz)

Urban Ingenuity, Inc. is an educational organization and partnership under the California Secretary of State and is an IRS tax exempt 501(c)(3) educational non-profit corporation functioning since 2019, and officially incorporated and properly registered since 2021.

Our educational goals reflect our community values to educate and participate in our region, by assisting and informing the public through the delivery of vital health related information and access. Our students and clients wish to learn and expand their knowledge on a variety of functional life subjects, that affect them and our general community as a whole in areas of health sciences, nutrition, healthcare access, general overall education, personal growth classes, and financial management. In this process, we focus on community individual attention, localism, social equality, equity, public participation, and media literacy through a variety of diverse approaches. We use digital and localized community media as our cornerstone to deliver a better lifestyle to our region.

We seek to continue our education goals on-air by further informing, supporting, educating, distributing and conducting free learning courses, seminars and workshops for life-long learning conducted by certified instructors, and qualified mentors that we call our partners in a variety of areas; including but not limited to health care access through Medicare, health and nutrition, vocations, employment, the environment, recreation, history, culture, arts, music history, culture, exercise and general enjoyment. We primarily target seniors, retired persons, economically disadvantaged people, those who are challenged, and the entire community overall, including minorities regardless of age, birth, nationality, gender, gender preference, orientation, creed, lifestyle, political beliefs or religious choices.

We wish to further use an LPFM radio station to promote a healthy life through our on-going general information classes, events and seminars to all who can benefit from our services. We currently accomplish this both on-line, and via zoom classes, and directly in person. It is our goal to use the air waves to further these goals, and directly bring class information on the air as an additional platform to bring these diverse, but much needed subjects to the ears of the community.
