

LPFM QUALIFICATIONS

This exhibit includes the following materials to demonstrate the applicant's qualifications to be the licensee of a Low Power FM station:

1. A statement of the applicant's Educational Objectives
2. Documentation to demonstrate the applicant's corporate existence since December 11, 2023 in Delaware.
3. A map demonstrating the applicant's established local presence in that all three of its directors reside within the required radius of the proposed antenna site.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

Blue Sky Radio, Inc. will exist to demonstrate a wholistic educational program that touches the lives of the people who live in the Santa Fe, NM, area, including Native American communities that surround the city. These Native American communities are the Tesuque and Pojoake Indian Reservations. Members of these tribes and others of the Pueblo group have also made Santa Fe their home. Their influence on the citizens of Santa Fe is considerable because of their proximity to the city, their participation in governance, such as the New Mexico legislature, and their daily appearance on the streets and commercial enterprise of the capital city.

Blue Sky Radio, Inc. will address the needs of people in its listening area in the following ways:

1. Present programs that address the health needs of local peoples.
2. Present programs that provide the latest news about health science advances,
3. Provide programs that emphasize the original cuisine and lifestyle of the Native people,
4. Feature programs about environmental concerns of the Native people,
5. Feature Native American music as well as a mix that represents all groups that call Santa Fe their home.
6. Feature the color of Native American culture, and
7. Present programs that provide hope and encouragement to Native American people.
