

Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Norman, Oklahoma LPFM Radio Station Application

Educational Statement

The Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Norman Oklahoma has been organized since 1974 for the purpose of spiritual education and public outreach in the local community, and as a place for people of difference faith traditions to come together.

Our educational mission includes classes in spiritual and ethical development. We work with children and adults to incorporate these lessons within arts, crafts, and gardening. We also learn and teach through service in the community, especially working with those less fortunate than ourselves.

The radio station will advance our educational mission through outreach to the community, including:

- Interviews and lessons featuring members of the community who are making a difference
- Education about issues affecting the local community,
- Information about services such as food banks and shelters available to those in need
- Extremely local gardening classes regarding our difficult environment
- Public events information to bring members of the local community together
- Music programs focused on local and regional artists
