Online Public Inspection File

Friends of Public Radio, Inc. (“WHQR”), licensee of noncommercial educational radio station WHQR(FM), Wilmington, North Carolina, reports the following with regard to its timely transition from the paper public inspection file to the online public inspection file. The WHQR(FM) online public inspection file is complete, including all required items, although WHQR discovered that seven of its quarterly issues and programs lists were not uploaded to the online file as of the March 1, 2018 deadline for noncommercial educational radio stations to transition from the paper to the online public file. However, upon review of its online public inspection file status, WHQR uploaded each of the required documents. WHQR regrets the delay in the placement of these items in the new online public inspection file as of the 2018 transition deadline. Nonetheless, WHQR has fully addressed the discrepancy such that the online public file is now complete, and WHQR continues to timely upload materials to the new public file as they come due. The station therefore respectfully submits that it has been in substantial compliance with its public file obligations throughout the license term and in connection with the transition to the online public file.
