

Anti-Discrimination Clause in Advertising Contracts

Cohan Radio Group, Inc. does not discriminate on the basis of race or ethnicity in the sale of advertising on its stations. At one time, this policy was hand stamped on each advertising contract for the stations. Subsequently the stations adopted a computerized form advertising agreement, eliminating the hand stamping process. This computerized agreement inadvertently omitted the anti-discrimination clause. As a result of this oversight, contracts for advertising running on the stations as of September 27, 2019, do not contain a clause regarding the licensee's anti-discrimination policy. The licensee has revised its computerized agreement to include an anti-discrimination clause and all contracts for new advertising on the station will contain an anti-discrimination clause.
