

Asociacion Evangelistica Cristo Viene, Inc. (“AECV”) is a religious broadcaster and applies a religious qualifications requirement to its full time employees. As a result, AECV is not required to engage in the initiatives listed in Section 73.2080 (c) (2).

As noted above, AECV is a religious broadcaster and applies a religious qualifications requirement. Moreover, AECV has engaged in very limited hiring activities during the period covered by this response. Partially due to the restrictions of the COVID-19 issue. Nonetheless, AECV remains committed to, whenever full-time positions are open, making efforts to recruit applicants from as broad a pool as possible among those qualified based on AECV’s religious qualification requirements. Among these applications, AECV also remains committed to recruiting without regard to race, color, national origin, or gender.

As a Puerto Rico station, WCCV-TV’s two most recent public file reports would have covered the period between October 1, 2018 and September 30, 2020. AECV did not have openings and has not filled any full-time positions at the station during the period that would have been covered by its two most recent EEO Public File reports. Again, as noted above, AECV applies a religious qualifications requirement to its full-time employees, and therefore is not required to engage in longer-term recruitment initiatives. As a result, AECV has not prepared EEO Public File reports for these reporting periods, as the employment unit had no information to report.