

NEW ORLEANS
EEO Program Report

Narrative Statement

Cape Publishing, Inc. disseminates information about job opportunities at its stations to a large selection of resources. Station personnel participate in community events where, among other things, they discuss paths to a career in the broadcast industry. Internally, station personnel have the opportunity to participate in training events and the community has the opportunity to participate in intern programs. The Employment Unit's Meteorologist leads an online weather school that he established to engage kids and adults for a better understanding of meteorology.