

Facility will be installed to an existing tower, in an established antenna farm area, having perimeter fencing and security lighting and alarm systems.

During periods of construction and maintenance, transmissions will be temporarily discontinued as necessary to assure safety of workers in or around the area.