

The applicant has answered this in the affirmative because the public file documents are in existence; because of problems with the FCC's public file website this past weekend, the applicant won't be able to upload these documents until after the public file website is once again available for uploads.