

FCC VIOLATIONS EXHIBIT
Foxfur Communications, LLC
January, 2022

In 2016, Foxfur Communications, LLC (“Foxfur”) was involved in a proposed exchange of radio stations within the Syracuse, NY radio market. Because it implemented a time brokerage agreement prior to any requested Commission action on a waiver to do so for the proposed interim period, the Commission found a violation of Section 73.3555(a)(1)(ii) of its Rules as Foxfur was found to have exceeded the maximum attributable interest permitted within a market of its size. The matter was resolved by the FCC in an Order adopting a Consent Decree (FCC DA 16-1022, released September 12, 2016). Foxfur has observed the conditions of the Consent Decree.

It is noted that Foxfur was not the licensee of WOSW(AM) at the time, but this is being reported in an abundance of caution.
