

Assignment without written agreement

The proposed assignment is from an individual to a limited liability company in which the individual is the sole member. The assignment is done for company planning purposes and there is no written agreement.