

Filing for an extension for our STA

I was injured and didn't work for 10 months and I'm the only board member that knows anything about the engineering of a radio station. Battling getting back into full working shape and due to the difficulty of gathering volunteers to work outside for hours due to the cold and unpredictable Alaskan weather, we just need a little more time to get the station up and running. We've already located a new spot for our antennae and apparently we will no longer need any more waivers at this location like we needed before. We are fully aware that if not back on the air by March 26th that we will lose the license.
