Statement

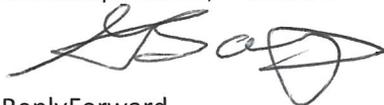

The South Texas Conjunto Association, Inc became incorporated in March 20, 1998 and became A 501 3c in May 28, 2003.

The South Texas Conjunto Association is an organization dedicated to promoting and preserving the traditional music genre known as conjunto. Conjunto music is a unique style that originated in the Texas-Mexico border region and combines elements of accordion and bajo sexto guitar. The association organizes events, festivals, and competitions to showcase conjunto music and support local musicians. It aims to educate the public about this vibrant music tradition and ensure its continued appreciation for future generations.

The radio station will help in outreach to the community with Conjunto music and educational events to teach the younger generations of the origins of the genre. Conjunto music is cultural

To the region with origins in 1920s but it's also a disappearing genre that must be preserve as part of the history of South Texas. Currently, there no public radio or NPR type of radio in South Texas. This licensed radio station will be a boost in Conjunto music education.
