

On April 7, 1999, Davis Broadcasting, Inc. (ADavis@) filed a Petition to Deny (the ADavis Petition@) the applications of Cumulus Licensing Corp. (ACLC@) requesting the Federal Communications Commission's (AFCC@s) consent to the assignment to CLC of the FCC authorizations for stations WDAK(AM), Columbus, Georgia and WSTH-FM, Alexander City, Alabama (File Nos. BAL(H)-19990204EB-EC). The Davis Petition, and Davis's subsequent Reply to CLC's Opposition to the Davis Petition, allege that CLC lacked candor with respect to certain matters not disclosed in that assignment application. On September 11, 2000, Davis filed with the FCC a similar Petition to Deny the applications of CLC to assign certain FCC authorizations in the Columbus, Georgia area (File Nos. BAL(H)-20000728ACS-ACX), in which Petition Davis makes similar allegations. CLC has, and will continue to, vigorously oppose the Davis Petition and the subsequent Petition to Deny filed by Davis on September 11, 2000.

Lyn Communications, Inc. also filed Petitions to Deny (the ALyn Petitions@) against certain applications requesting the FCC's consent to the transfer of control or assignment to Cumulus Media Inc. or its subsidiaries of FCC authorizations for radio stations in the Mobile, Alabama and Pensacola, Florida areas. The Lyn Petitions essentially asserted the same allegations made in the Davis Petition. The Lyn Petitions have been denied and those applications have been granted by the FCC; however, Lyn Communications, Inc. has filed with the FCC applications for review of such FCC action.
