

The map displays the distribution of place names within a 1000 km radius of a central point. The red circle indicates the 1000 km radius, and the green line shows the 1000 km distance from the center. The map includes a coordinate grid with latitude and longitude markings. Place names are marked with black dots and labeled. The map shows a high density of place names in the central and eastern parts of the region, with a significant decrease in density towards the western and southern edges. The map also shows major roads and geographical features like rivers and lakes.
