Re: WJWR(FM) Bloomington, Illinois
FCC CP: BMPED-20091230ACN

This afternoon, December 8, 2010, the construction of the WJWR(FM) BMPED-20091230ACN was completed. The construction of the station was completed under my direct supervision and the construction is in full compliance with the terms of the FCC Construction Permit including the Special Conditions.

I further certify that the directional antenna was installed according to the manufacturers instructions and a Licensed Surveyor was employed to set the antenna azimuths according to the manufacturers instructions. (35 degrees and 220 degrees true North). A copy of the Surveyors letter is attached.

I, Richard Van Zandt, have over 30 years of experience in Broadcast Engineering and am certified as a Professional Broadcast Engineer by the Society of Broadcast Engineers, and also hold FCC First Class and General Radiotelephone radio licenses. My experience and qualifications are a matter of record before the FCC in many proceedings over a period of aprx. 30 years.

I certify that the above statement is accurate and correct.

Respectfully,
