

This station has a main studio waver for the main transmitter. This application is for the auxiliary transmitter, which will carry the same programming in the event that the main facility (the main antenna) fails.