Notes:

1. The voting and equity interest percentages listed above as held by Walter F. Ulloa and Paul A. Zevnik, include shares owned directly by those individuals and indirectly by trusts set up by such individuals or by entities controlled by such individuals. The Class B shares held by Messrs. Ulloa and Zevnik entitle them to 10 votes per each share of Class B common stock. The FCC has recognized that Mr. Ulloa is the controlling shareholder of Entravision.
2. The Class U Common Stock held by Univision Communications Inc. (“Univision”) is non-voting, but includes the right to approve certain material decisions regarding Entravision Communications Corporation and its television stations that are affiliated with a Univision network (see Shareholders of Hispanic Broadcasting Corporation, 18 FCC Rcd 18834 (2003)). For ownership information regarding Univision, please refer to its most recent biennial ownership report on file with the Commission.

3. The percentages indicated herein are based solely on the aggregate number of issued and outstanding shares of stock of Entravision Communications Corporation and do not include securities convertible or otherwise transferable into shares of stock of Entravision Communications Corporation.
4. Based solely on a review of the Schedule 13Gs filed by unaffiliated public stockholders of Entravision Communications Corporation, four entities (American Century Investment Management, Inc., BlackRock Inc., Dimensional Fund Advisors LP, and The Vanguard Group) each hold 5% or more of the total issued and outstanding voting shares of Entravision Communications Corporation stock. However, owing to the voting rights of Class A shareholders, which receive one vote per share of Class A common stock, the shareholder does not have direct ownership interests and voting stock interests in excess of 5% of the total ownership interests and voting stock interests of Entravision Communications Corporation.
5. As there is no debt that would cause any otherwise non-attributable party to acquire attributable status as a result of the operation of the "equity debt plus" rule (47 CFR 73.3555, Note 2(i)), the percentage of common equity is reported as the percentage of assets for each shareholder.
