

Constitution and By-Laws not inconsistent with the constitution or laws of the State, and make such rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary to carry into effect the object of their association,

Section 5. The members of this association shall have power to assemble and meet at such times and places as may be agreed upon, and they shall elect any number of discreet persons of their association, not less than three nor more than nine in number, as trustees, to take charge of the real and personal property belonging thereto, as the laws of the State require, and to transact all business relative to the investment and disposal thereof.

Section 6. It shall be lawful for said association to elect and appoint such other officers as the condition and circumstances of the corporation may require, and to prescribe their powers and duties, and require bond and security for the faithful performance thereof, in such penal sum and with such sureties as they may choose, and also to prescribe their terms of office; provided, however, that the trustees shall hold their offices in conformity with the law for at least one year, and until others are elected.

Section 7. The property, real and personal, of said corporation shall be solely devoted to the purposes and objects of said association, and all real and personal estate which has been or may be hereafter lawfully conveyed by device, gift, grant, purchase or otherwise, to said society, or any personal or persons in trust for said association, shall descend with improvements and appurtenances in perpetual succession to and be held by the trustees in trust for said corporation.

Section R. This act shall take effect from and after its passage, and may be altered and amended by any future legislature. Approved, February 14, 1855
