As a student organization on Indiana University's campus, we appreciate the wonderful educational opportunities that a low-power FM license allows students to access. As a station comprised of undergraduates with various interests and many different backgrounds, our student radio station has provided a common ground and collective voice for Indiana University students for many years. We hope to continue the tradition of providing the Bloomington community with quality programming, while allowing students to have experiences that will provide them benefit, no matter where their lives take them.

Thank you for your time,
