

The California Association for Research and Education, Inc. was founded to improve the eye care and health care of medically underserved communities through medical education, research, and humanitarian outreach. The proposed station will further our educational objectives by providing radio programming to address health issues of importance to medically underserved communities. Radio programming will be overseen by professionals who are competent, and certified or accredited by their respective regional and/or national accrediting organizations, such as the American Dietetic Association, the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapy, the American Optometric Association, the American Podiatric Medical Association, the American Psychological Association, the American Medical Association, and others.
