In re: KVMO, Vandalia, MO
Facility ID No. 81744
File No. BRH-20121025ABL

Dear Licensee:

We have before us the application (Application) for renewal of the license for FM radio station KVMO, Vandalia, Missouri (Station). For the reasons set forth below, we grant the Application for a renewal period of one year from the date of this letter, instead of a full term of eight years, pursuant to Section 309(k)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (Act).¹

Background. The Application was filed by the then-licensee, Twenty-One Sound Communications, Inc., on October 25, 2012, seeking to renew the Station's license. Based on our review of the Application and related Commission records, we find that the Station was silent for approximately four years during its license term ending on February 1, 2013.² After that point, the Station was silent for significant periods in 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016. On May 16, 2016, you were appointed by a court to be the receiver for the Station. In the past three years, the Station has alternated between silence and operation, but has operated each day for the last ten months pursuant to Section 307(c)(3) of the Act.³

Discussion. Silence instead of operation in accordance with a station's FCC authorization is a fundamental failure to serve a broadcast station's community of license, because a silent station offers that community no public service programming such as news, public affairs, weather information, and Emergency Alert System notifications. Moreover, brief periods of station operation sandwiched between prolonged periods of silence are of little value because the local audience is not accustomed to tuning into the station's frequency.⁴

The basic duty of broadcast licensees to serve their communities is reflected in Section 309(k) of the Act.⁵ That Section provides that if, upon consideration of a station's license renewal application and ⁴ See Radioactive, LLC, Hearing Designation Order, 32 FCC Rcd 6392, para. 2 (2017).

related pleadings, we find that (1) the station has served the public interest, convenience, and necessity; (2) there have been no serious violations of the Act or the rules; and (3) there have been no other violations which, taken together, constitute a pattern of abuse, we are to grant the renewal application.⁶ If, however, the licensee fails to meet that standard, the Commission may deny the application – after notice and opportunity for a hearing under Section 309(e) of the Act – or grant the application “on terms and conditions that are appropriate, including a renewal for a term less than the maximum otherwise permitted.”⁷

In 2001, the Commission cautioned “all licensees that . . . a licensee will face a very heavy burden in demonstrating that it has served the public interest where it has remained silent for most or all of the prior license term.”⁸ It also acknowledged the agency’s longstanding policy to encourage stations to resume broadcast operations when license renewal applications were pending. However, the Commission noted that Section 309(k)(1) applies a “backwards-looking standard” that does not give any weight to efforts to return a station to full-time operation in the future.⁹ The Commission held that denial of the renewal application of the station in question in Birach would be fundamentally unfair because the Commission had not provided sufficient notice of the effect the Section 309(k)(1) standard would have on silent stations.¹⁰ Since the issuance of the Birach decision in 2001, licensees have been on notice as to how Section 309(k)(1) applies to silent stations.

In this case, the Station’s operation, primarily under the prior licensee’s control, has fallen short of that which would warrant routine license renewal. The stewardship of the Station as a whole, both under the prior licensee and under your period of control, fails to meet the public service commitment which licensees are expected to provide to their communities of license on a daily basis because the Station was silent for a significant portion of the license term (as well as a cumulative total of more than

See Policies to Promote Rural Radio Service and to Streamline Allotment and Assignment Procedures, Third Report and Order, 26 FCC Rcd 17642, 17645, para. 7 (2011) (citing the Commission’s “fundamental interest” in expediting new radio service and preventing “warehousing” of scarce spectrum); 1998 Biennial Regulatory Review – Streamlining of Mass Media Applications, Rules, and Processes, Report and Order, 13 FCC Rcd 23056, 23090-93, paras. 83-90 (1998), on reconsideration, 14 FCC Rcd 17525, 17539, paras. 35-36 (1999); Liberman Broad. of Dallas License LLC, Letter, 25 FCC Rcd 4765, 4768 (MB 2010).

⁶ 47 U.S.C. § 309(k)(1). The renewal standard was amended to read as described by Section 204(a) of the Telecommunications Act of 1996, Pub. L. No. 104-104, 110 Stat. 56 (1996). See Implementation of Sections 204(a) and 204(c) of the Telecomm. Act of 1996, Order, 11 FCC Rcd 6363 (1996).

⁷ 47 U.S.C. §§ 309(k)(2), 309(k)(3).

⁸ See Birach Broad. Corp., Memorandum Opinion and Order, 16 FCC Rcd 5015, 5020, para. 13 (2001) (Birach).

⁹ Id. at para. 12 (“[C]onsideration of post-term developments is fundamentally at odds with this backwards-looking standard.”).

three years thereafter, during the pendency of the Application).¹¹

On the facts presented here, we conclude that a short-term license renewal for the Station is the appropriate sanction. Although the Station sought Commission authorization for each of the periods of silence, we cannot find that the Station served the public interest, convenience and necessity during the license term due to the extended periods of non-operation. Accordingly, pursuant to Section 309(k)(2) of the Act, we will grant the Station a short-term license renewal, limited to a period of one year from the date of this letter.¹² This limited renewal period will afford the Commission an opportunity to review the Station's compliance with the Act and the FCC's rules and to take whatever corrective actions, if any, that may be warranted at that time.

Conclusion. Accordingly, for the reasons set forth above, IT IS ORDERED THAT the license renewal application (File No. BRH-20121025ABL) being prosecuted by Dennis Wallace, Court-Appointed Receiver, IS GRANTED pursuant to 47 U.S.C. § 309(k)(2), for a license term of one year from the date of this letter.
