Secretary of the Commission

ATTN: The Commission

APPLICATION FOR REVIEW

The Estate of Irene M. Stolz, Edward R. Stolz II, Executor (Stolz), by its attorney, and pursuant to Section 1.115 of the Rules and Regulations of the Federal Communications Commission, 47 C.F.R. §1.115, hereby respectfully submits this Application for Review of the letter ruling of the Chief, Audio Division, Media Bureau by letter dated February 19, 2015 (Letter Ruling) denying the Stolz "Petition for Reconsideration" and simultaneously affirming the grant of the above-captioned license applications filed by a subsidiary of Entercom Communications Corp. (Entercom). In so doing, the following is shown:

Timeliness

1. This pleading is timely filed pursuant to Section 1.115(d) of the Rules. A descriptive public notice of the denial of the Stolz Informal Objection and grant of the above-referenced applications was released by the Commission on February 24, 2015, Public Notice, Broadcast Applications, Report No. 28432, pp. 13-18 (an abstract of this public notice is attached as Exhibit A). Since this pleading is being filed within 30 days of the release of the descriptive public notice, it is timely filed.

Questions of Law Presented

2. Pursuant to Section 1.115(b) of the Rules, this is to state the questions of law presented by this Application for Review:

- a. Whether the dismissal of the Stolz Petition for Reconsideration on procedural grounds was arbitrary and capricious and in conflict with Press Broadcasting Co., Inc. v. FCC, 59 F.3d 1365 (D. C. Cir. 1995) where an informal objector was permitted to pursue appeals of the adverse rulings rendered by the FCC staff acting pursuant to delegated authority.

- b. Whether the refusal of the Audio Division to investigate Entercom's complicity in the death of a contestant in the contest "Hold Your Wee for a Wii" violates the Administrative Procedure Act requirement that the FCC not act arbitrarily or capriciously and that the FCC act in accordance with law, 5 U.S.C. §706(2)(A).
- c. Whether the Audio Division had an obligation pursuant to Section 312(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, 47 U.S.C. §312(a)(2) to investigate the circumstances surrounding the "Hold Your Wee for a Wii" contest and to determine as a result thereof whether Entercom continued to possess the basic character qualifications to be an FCC licensee.

Section 1.115(b)(2) Factors

3. The rulings of the Audio Division in this case must be reversed or vacated, because they implicate the following factors stated in 47 C.F.R. §1.115(b)(2):

(i) The action taken pursuant to delegated authority is in conflict with statute, regulation, case precedent, or established Commission policy.

(v) Prejudicial procedural error.

Question of Law "a"

4. At page 4 of the February 19, 2015 Audio Division letter ruling, it was stated: "As an informal objector, Stolz is not a "party to the proceeding" within the meaning of Section 1.106(b)(1) of the Rules, and thus has no right to seek reconsideration in this proceeding", citing a staff ruling, David Ryder, 24 FCC Rcd 10874 (MB 2009).

5. This attempt to convert a staff ruling into hornbook law seems to us to be in conflict with Press Broadcasting, supra. This case involved an informal objection filed against an application to extend the expiration date of a television station construction permit. Petitions to deny did not lie against this type of application; therefore, Press Broadcasting could only file an "informal objection". Press Broadcasting's informal objection was initially granted and the subject application dismissed as a result thereof; however, the staff later reversed itself and extended the construction permit. Press Broadcasting filed a number of pleadings with the FCC, which ultimately led to an appeal to the District of Columbia Circuit, where a remand of the proceeding back to the FCC was ordered.

6. Therefore, we have a precedent where an informal objector was able to have pleadings ruled upon on their merits. It was therefore both in conflict with case precedent and a prejudicial procedural error for the FCC staff to deny Stolz a full ruling on the merits of the petition for reconsideration, particularly on the substantial issue related to an FCC licensee's involvement with the death of a contestant in a game broadcast over its radio station.

Questions of Law "b" and "c"

7. On January 12, 2007, Entercom's KDND(FM), Sacramento, California, staged an on-air contest called "Hold Your Wee for a Wii".

8. The facts were chronicled by attorney Dr. Ronald B. Standler in an on-line article, <http://www.rbs2.com/KDND.pdf> (footnotes omitted):

Contestants were given an 8-ounce (235 ml) bottle of water to drink in two minutes, followed by a ten minute break, then another bottle.¹ After eight 8-ounce bottles, contestants were given 16-ounce (475 ml) bottles of water to drink. Jennifer Strange drank eight of the 8-ounce bottles and ten of the 16-ounce bottles, for a total of 224 ounces (6.6 liters) of water.² One of KDND's disk jockeys remarked that Jennifer's "stomach was so large that she looked 'three months pregnant.'"³

At 09:30 PST, Jennifer Strange quit the contest, because she had a headache and felt dizzy. She won second place in the contest. She returned to her house, instead of going to work that day. At approximately 14:00 PST, her mother found Jennifer's dead body in her house.⁴

9. Entercom conducted this contest with wanton disregard for the safety of the contestants to entertain listeners and generate audience ratings.

10. In its 1986 policy statement, Character Qualifications in Broadcast Licensing, 102 FCC 2d 1179, 1204-1205, n. 60, the Commission discussed non-broadcast conduct by a licensee that shocked the conscience:

The Commission acknowledges that there may be circumstances in which an applicant has engaged in nonbroadcast misconduct so egregious as to shock the conscience and evoke almost universal disapprobation. See e.g., supra, comments of ABC at note 29. Such misconduct might, of its own nature, constitute prima facie evidence that the applicant lacks the traits of reliability and/or truthfulness necessary to be a licensee, and might be a matter of Commission concern even prior to adjudication by another body. The Commission cannot presently contemplate the manner in which circumstances might arise, and stresses that such considerations would come into play only with regard to a specific application involving specific misconduct. [emphasis supplied]

11. Here, we have broadcast related conduct that shocked the conscience and resulted in the death of a young woman, all in the search for ratings and revenues. This matter has been raised in the context of the renewal applications of Entercom's Sacramento cluster of stations. However, it seems to us that the Commission's 1986 Policy Statement is not a hard and fast rule, and where the right circumstances present themselves, licensee conduct at one station can affect the basic qualifications of other stations owned by the same licensee. The FCC should not be granting any renewal applications of any of Entercom's stations nationwide, including the above-captioned stations, until the FCC conducts a full and fair hearing pursuant to Section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §309(e). The death of Jennifer Strange and Entercom's corporate role in it presents a prima facie case that Entercom lacks the basic character qualifications to be a Commission licensee anywhere in the nation. The Commission simply cannot grant any Entercom renewal application, including but not limited to the above-captioned stations, without first holding a full and fair hearing before an independent administrative law judge. Citizens for Jazz on WRVR, Inc. v. FCC, 775 F.2d 392, 397 (D. C. Cir. 1985). Indeed, to quote the WRVR court, not only is there a "good deal of smoke" here, but we actually have the "existence of a fire". A hearing is required for all of Entercom's pending renewal applications, including those captioned above. Further, under the FCC's organic statute, 47 U.S.C. §312(a)(2), it seems to us that the FCC had an obligation to hold hearings on whether Entercom continued to possess the requisite basic character qualifications to be a Commission licensee.

12. We renew our argument made to the staff that it is procedural error for the Commission to take piecemeal action with the remaining pending Entercom renewal applications. We would note that its Sacramento cluster 2005 renewal applications are still pending. Former administrative law judge David I. Kraushaar (and more recently echoed by Commissioner Clyburn and former Commissioner Copps), noted the "pristine truth of the observation that 'justice delayed is justice denied'". Jack O. Gross, FCC 77D-29, 69 FCC 2d 178, ¶23 (ALJ, 1977).

13. It is disturbing that the FCC will not lift one finger to investigate an event which shocks the conscience such as the "Hold Your Wee for a Wii" contest, and yet seems to routinely impose large civil forfeitures against unfortunate small licensees who commit seeming trivial recordkeeping violations; see e.g. Ernesto Bustos (WTBL-CD), 29 FCC Rcd 12863 (2014), fining the young Hispanic single station licensee $13,000 for children's television recordkeeping violations. More recently, the FCC announced a $325,000.00 fine against a larger broadcasting organization, Schurz Communications, for a broadcast of three seconds' worth of graphic video of a sex organ on a station newscast. WDBJ Television, Inc., FCC 15-32, ¶15 (March 23, 2015). We are constrained to point out that no one died at either WTBL-CD or WDBJ-TV. Someone did die as a result of Entercom's KDND's reckless and irresponsible broadcasting. It is arbitrary and capricious, and therefore a reversible error pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. §706(2)(A), as well as a violation of 47 U.S.C. §309(e) and 47 U.S.C. §312(a)(2), for the FCC to refuse to investigate Entercom and the "Hold Your Wee for a Wii" contest, and to determine in light thereof whether Entercom possesses the basic character qualifications to be a Commission licensee.

14. Therefore, it was a violation of a number of statutory provisions contained in the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and the Administrative Procedure Act, for the Audio Division to refuse to investigate the Entercom on-air contest described above. It was also prejudicial procedural error for the FCC not to hold license revocation proceedings against Entercom.

Conclusion

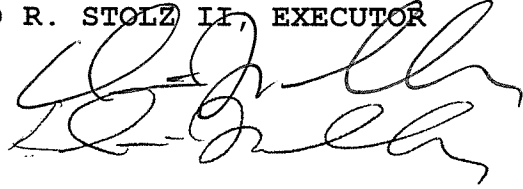

WHEREFORE, it is urged that our Application for Review BE GRANTED, that the rulings of the Audio Division BE VACATED, and that the above renewal applications BE DESIGNATED FOR HEARING upon at least the following issues, and that the Estate of Irene M. Stolz, Edward R. Stolz II as executor, BE GRANTED STATUS AS AN INTERVENOR in such hearing:

1. To determine the facts and circumstances surrounding Entercom's conduct of a radio contest over KDND(FM), Sacramento, California which resulted in the death of a contestant, and, in light thereof, whether Entercom possesses the basic character qualifications to be a Commission licensee; and
2. In light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether the applications for renewal of license of the above-captioned stations should be denied.

Stolz also demands that the Commission hold a field hearing as to the death of Jennifer Strange, and that it be permitted to participate in that hearing as an intervenor and a party respondent.

Respectfully submitted,

ESTATE OF IRENE M. STOLZ,
EDWARD R. STOLZ II, EXECUTOR
