Proposed Education Program/Mission

Green Peter Eclectic Tunez (GPET) is a non-commercial, non-profit corporation organized under the laws of the State of Oregon, with an extension/campus in Kailua-Kona, Hawaii, to educate the public regarding locally produced music. Articles of incorporation were paid for, filed, and registered on November 6, 2013. (See Attached)

Educational Purpose

GPET can be likened to a musician's guild where talent is pooled, workshops will be given and events promoted, all centered around locally-produced music. GPET is an educational, non-commercial organization to foster, preserve and promote local musicians. The educational purpose of GPET is to provide insight and exposure to the public as to the myriad of musicians and their music that exist in, and around Kailua-Kona, Hawaii. Event promotion and workshops are all a part of what GPET is about.

How Proposed Programming will Advance our Educational Purpose

Across the board, the general public of Kailua-Kona have little locally produced FM radio! There is a treasure of local musicians and their music waiting to be discovered! A low-power FM station will be a powerful tool to bring the kind of light, exposure and influence that local music artisans have never had access to heretofore. Educating the public about this hidden treasure is first and foremost what GPET is all about. After all what good is music that cannot be heard?

Educational programs will center around local music history, cultural heritage differences expressed in different music styles, bringing musicians together for events, bringing interviews with musicians and generally increasing local talent awareness, while educating the public about the local musicians' myriad of talents.
