Special operating conditions or restrictions:

- 1 The permittee/licensee, in coordination with other users of the site, must reduce power or cease operation as necessary to protect persons having access to the site, tower or antenna from radiofrequency electromagnetic fields in excess of the FCC guidelines.

Special operating conditions or restrictions:

- 2 The licensee has demonstrated compliance with the FCC radiofrequency electromagnetic field exposure guidelines based on the use of the antenna specified herein. If the licensee makes any changes in the facilities via a modification of license application in accordance with 47 C.F.R. Section 73.1690(c), the subsequent FCC Form 302-FM, application for license, must include a revised RF field showing to demonstrate continued compliance with the FCC guidelines.
- 3 Warning signs which describe the radiofrequency electromagnetic field hazard must be posted. Access must be restricted to prevent the exposure of humans to RF emissions in excess of the FCC radiofrequency radiation guidelines (OET Bulletin 65, Edition 97-01, released August 1997).
- 4 Pursuant to 47 C.F.R. Sections 73.7002(c) and 73.7005(b), the permittee/licensee is required to construct and operate for a period of four (4) years of on-air operations technical facilities substantially as proposed and shall not downgrade service to the area on which the preference was based.
- 5 Pursuant to 47 C.F.R. § 73.7005(a), the permittee/licensee shall be subject to a holding period. From the grant of the construction permit and continuing until the facility has achieved four years of on-air operations, the permittee/licensee proposing to assign or transfer the construction permit/license to another party will be required to demonstrate the following two factors: that the proposed buyer would qualify for at least the same number of points as the assignor or transferor originally received; and that consideration received and/or promised does not exceed the assignor's or transferor's legitimate and prudent expenses as defined therein.
