Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.		Supported by a team of Georgia Aquarium biologists, veterinarians, and other experts, Jeff Corwin travels the world to explore the Earth's least understood resource, our oceans and waterways and the animals which call them home. He swims with manta rays, pointing out that their body form was the inspiration for the design of the Stealth jet. While in the water with whale sharks, he takes samples of their blood to better understand their biology. As Jeff continues his journey through each episode, the viewer is able to connect with these animals and learn how important they are to all life on the planet, as well as how sea life connects to life on the rest of the globe. This program aired on the station's tertiary digital channel.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	During this Quarter, KPTH aired PSAs of educational and informational value to children and the general public. The PSA topics included Bullying, Recycling, supporting special Olympics, exercising and eating right, Fatherhood and Texting while Driving. From the information provided in the PSAs, children and viewers may better identify problems and handle difficult situations as they arise. The station also hosted a tour for a Fifth Grade class from Sioux City Covington Elementary. KPTH Meteorologist taught a 3-hour class to the Boy Scout troop of Mid America for their Weather Merit Badge. And a News anchor read to a Fourth Grade class at Spaulding Elementary in celebration of Dr. Seuss's birthday.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Supported by a team of Georgia Aquarium biologists, veterinarians, and other experts, Jeff Corwin travels the world to explore the Earth's least understood resource, our oceans and waterways and the animals which call them home. He swims with manta rays, pointing out that their body form was the inspiration for the design of the Stealth jet. While in the water with whale sharks, he takes samples of their blood to better understand their biology. As Jeff continues his journey through each episode, the viewer is able to connect with these animals and learn how important they are to all life on the planet, as well as how sea life connects to life on the rest of the globe. This program aired on the station's tertiary digital channel.
