Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Sport Science explores the science and engineering underlying athletic endeavors. Episodes focus on testing certain aspects of athletics (such as human flight and reaction time) or tries to re-analyze sporting moments or trials and tribulations. The show also puts a human against animals or machines, or even checking against other sports or challenging the odds with data gathered using motion sensors and accelerometers. Professional athletes are featured prominently to test the limits of the human body. In addition, host John Brenkus also participates in cases where an "average Joe" was required. Dr. Cynthia Bir, Professor of Biomedical Engineering, uses methods that have been developed to understand human injury biomechanics, and developing new techniques to address the unique challenges found when studying live volunteers in high impact and high speed activities. Dr. Bir helps viewers to understand the forces (internal and external) sustained and generated by the body during high level athletic activities. Aired on tertiary digital channel 28.3.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	WTTE is pleased to broadcast and produce programs in standard program lengths three hours weekly, which provides educational informational needs of children. We believe these programs have unlimited value. During this past quarter, WTTE telecast numerous public service announcements aimed at children 16 years of age and under. We also air on a regular basis PSAs provided to us by Drug Free America, which are geared toward children. Our PSAs are designed for a general audience, but also serve children 16 years of age and under. Our general audience programs which serve children 16 years of age and under include our local news which airs every night at 10:00 p.m. and an hour long newscast at 7:00 a.m., 8:00 a.m. and 9:00 a.m. Monday through Friday. Non-broadcast efforts directed toward children include numerous public appearances this quarter by News personnel. Public appearances are ongoing projects.
