Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Ariel & Zoey & Eli, Too (AZE2), a musical variety show that is driven by three siblings, empowers children to accomplish their goals and their dreams. AZE2 accomplishes this through interviewing people who excel in their profession and have a positive message for kids, introducing guests who perform different genres of music, and presenting musical performances by the cast members themselves. These cast musical performances show children they can write their own music and the importance of teamwork. Music on the show is produced by Emmy Award winner David Barrett. He and Brian Brill (another Emmy winner) ensure that the music is tailored for the young audience. All songs offer a positive message about life. Every episode begins with the song "Sweet Company which sends the positive message of friendship and ends with the singing of End of Another Day which encourages the viewer to stay optimistic about tomorrow. Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Aqua Kids provides a unique vehicle for young people to learn about the diversity of marine animals around the world, emphasizing the importance of preserving fragile aquatic habitats and encouraging children to take an active role in protecting the future of their community and the world. The program provides a window into the management and preservation of unique habitats and species through the eyes of kids and their hands-on collaboration with science researchers and educators. The messages delivered by Aqua Kids are given by a creative and resourceful host, Molly McKinney, whose scientific background is evident in the show. The other young hosts, whose ages range from pre-teen to late teens, are equally entertaining and informative. The young viewers identify with these young hosts and imagine themselves in the role of the scientist and as someone who could have a positive impact on the environment. The format of young student scientists presenting information on location in a variety of aquatic settings is both entertaining and informative. (Showplace TV Syndication)

Number of Preemptions	0
Length of Program	30 mins
Age of Target Child Audience	14 years to 16 years

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Six (6) different episodes aired on the main digital channel of this locally produced show that interviews community leaders. (Two on SUN @ 12PM.) The show educates and informs viewers regarding current affairs and encourages viewers to participate. Episode #632 The Community Affairs programming for NBC 5, Five Talk Street, aired on Sunday, October 16, 2016 at 12:00pm. In this program, we discussed breast cancer awareness month with the American Cancer Society's Making Strides Against Breast Cancer 5K Walk. American Cancer Society Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk Honors survivors and celebrates Halloween. The American Cancer Society created Making Strides Against Breast Cancer community walks in 1993 to build awareness and to fight the disease across the nation. In that time, 10 million walkers have collected more than $594 million. In North Texas last year, approximately 4,000 walkers raised more than $430,000. We also discussed the 40 year anniversary of the Dallas Black Dance Theatre. The Dallas Black Dance Theatre was the vision of Ann Williams who decided, in 1976, to start a dance company to inspire minority boys and girls to appreciate dance as an art form. The Theatre has become the oldest dance company in Dallas, the 10th largest minority arts organization in the nation, and an arts ambassador for Dallas traveling not only in the nation, but the world every year. Next, we discussed Four Seasons Cool October Charity Concert benefiting the Charles A. Sammons Cancer Center at Baylor Irving. Four Seasons Hotels and Resorts is committed to supporting both local efforts and broader campaigns whose goals is the eradication of cancer. Through the collective efforts of the company's hotels worldwide, Four Seasons annually raises significant funds and awareness for cancer research. Since 1992, Four Seasons has contribute more than $2.9 million to the Irving Healthcare Foundation in support of cancer services at Baylor Scott & White Charles A. Sammons Cancer Center. Afterward, a representative from Abilene Christian University discusses ACU's Master of Marriage and Family Therapy degree with a specialty in therapy for military families. The master program includes dynamics of military families, family therapy with military families, assessment and treatment of family violence, addictive disorders, and ecology trauma and crisis for the therapist. Lastly, a discussion about the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Light the Night Walk. Light the Night is an evening walk with thousands of walkers in attendance. It has a carnival atmosphere and areas for kids. Walkers are given lanterns in three different colors, each signifying their connection to cancer. The money raised for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society is put towards research, patient services, financial assistance, education and advocacy. Episode #634 aired on Sunday, Nov. 5, 2016 at 12pm. The Community Affairs programming discussed the Salvations Army Angel Tree program which planned to help more than 16,000 DFW area families this Christmas. In this episode we also discussed The Trains at NorthPark, an elaborate miniature toy train exhibit benefiting the Ronald McDonald House of Dallas. Following that the manager for Trinity River Vision Authority discussed Panther Island Ice, Fort Worth's only outdoor ice skating rink and offered a special promotional rate to those who brought canned food to support the Tarrant Area Food Bank. Afterward, we discussed Mortiz Fort Worth YMCA Turkey Trot with proceeds going to YMCA's scholarship fund. Rounding out the holiday topics, Holiday Warehouse's Deck the Door charity program partnering with different organizations to provide holiday decor for adult focused programs, the elderly and veterans in the community. Additional runs of these episodes aired on KXAS 5.2 COZI TV.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Six (6) different episodes aired on the main digital channel of this locally produced show that interviews community leaders. (Two on SAT @ 5PM.) The show educates and informs viewers regarding current affairs and encourages viewers to participate. Episode #633 The Community Affairs programming for NBC 5, Five Talk Street, aired on Saturday, October 22, 2016 at 5:00pm. In this program, we discussed the Blue Zones Project Power 9 Party. Blue Zones Project Fort Worth is a community led effort to make healthy choices easier in the places where we live, work, eat, shop, pray, and play. The Power 9 Party is a celebration of the nine principles to greater longevity that come from the world's longest living people and of how far the project came together as a community. Next, we discussed Dallas Black Dance Theater's 29th annual International Conference and Festival of Blacks in Dance. International Association of Blacks in Dance member companies held a multi-company audition to search for future dancers for dance companies as well as to select youth for summer intensive dance programs. The conference held master classes, lecture/demonstrations, panels and workshops to meet the needs of professional and student dancers as well as dance administrators and instructors. We also discussed the Ruby Slipper Soiree benefiting Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Tarrant County. Serving more than 800 children, CASA of Tarrant County is an organization dedicated to helping abused and neglected children by training volunteers to make recommendations to family court judges for safe, permanent homes where children can thrive. The Ruby Slipper Soiree is an event gained to raised funds and awareness for CASA. It is the wish of the organization that all children could one day happily say 'There's No Place Like Home.' Afterward, we discussed the Greater Dallas Hispanic Chamber of Commerce's ScaleUp Dallas/Fort Worth Program. In September 2015, the Small Business Association (SBA) announced the expansion of the ScaleUp America Initiative to seven new communities, the Greater Dallas Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (GDHCC) being one of them. The GDHCC's ScaleUp DFW Program serves as an accelerator program to increase and improve business scalability for entrepreneurs in the $150,000 to $500,000 revenue range by providing bilingual training for business acceleration; access to entrepreneurs, innovators, and champions; access to markets and capital; mentoring from experienced and passionate executives; success network of champions, allies, lenders and investors. The program is designed to provide business growth, job creation, and civic engagement. GDHCC ScaleUp DFW will fill the gap in needed services for underserved and underrepresented business owners. A need that currently outpaces the capacity of the programs offered in the DFW region. Lastly, we discussed the Texas Wall Street Women's mission to bring together women in Texas in the finance industry. With over 2,220 members across the state, Texas Wall Street Women support their members through monthly events in their chapter cities that are also open to the public. They provide a mix of both networking events to help their members build strong and supportive industry network to help them on their path and they focus our education events on skills that help women achieve career success. Episode #637 The Community Affairs programming for NBC 5, Five Talk Street, aired on Saturday, December 31, 2016 at 5pm. In this program, we discussed the importance of donating funds, food, time, and voice for the North Texas Food Bank. The North Texas Food Bank is a four star charity navigator charity, providing hunger relief across 13 counties. Each day the North Texas Food Bank provides access to more than 170,000 meals to hungry children, families and seniors across North Texas. Next, Larry North, a leading expert on health discusses fitness, nutrition and weight loss. Larry North's dedication to health, fitness and overall wellbeing is evident in everything he does, from his ownership of an empire of gyms and fitness clubs to his energetic and charismatic messages to fortune 500 companies. This dedication has led to several innovative products and programs designed to enhance well-being. We also had a discussion on Arlington's MLK Advancing the Dream Celebration. A four day festivity over the MLK holiday designed to celebrate Dr. Martin Luther King Junior's dream. Afterward, representatives from Reading Partners discuss their 5th Annual Celebrity Spelling Bee. Reading Partners is a national nonprofit organization that collaborates with local public schools and mobilizes community volunteers to provide students with one on one reading support they need to read at grade level. The celebrity spelling bee event combines local celebrities with corporate and community support. Lastly, Founder of the Chris Howell Foundation, Chris Howell discusses the importance of raising awareness throughout communities for HIV and AIDS . The Chris Howell Foundation is dedicated to raise awareness of HIV and AIDS, as well as other various degenerative diseases, through community outreach forums, and dissemination of educational messaging. Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Six (6) different episodes aired on the main digital channel of this locally produced show that interviews community leaders. (Two on SUN @ 11:30AM.) The show educates and informs viewers regarding current affairs and encourages viewers to participate. Episode # 635 The Community Affairs programming for NBC 5, Five Talk Street, aired on Sunday, Nov. 20, 2016 at 11:30 a.m. In this program, we featured an Okay to Say Mental Health Awareness Special. We discussed with the director of communications at the Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute about the Okay to Say Campaign. Okay to Say is a community-driven movement initiated by the Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute with support from community partners, like NBC 5, to increase public awareness that most mental illnesses are treatable and to offer messages of hope and recovery to Texans and their families. They are trying to dispel biases and stereotypes, and break down cultural barriers surrounding mental illness in Texas and beyond. The statewide effort launched with Emmitt Smith and Mark Cuban encourages Texans to add their voice through a social media campaign by adding their name to the pledge at okaytosay.org. In addition to the mental health awareness special, we discussed with assistant professor of pediatrics at UT Southwestern Medical Center the importance of intervention and early diagnosis for children. One in five children from age zero to eleven experience a mental disorder in a given year and 50 percent of all mental health conditions begin by age 14. In a 12 month period, more than half a million Texas children and adolescents have severe emotional disturbance that impair function at school and home. Next, we discussed mental health issues involving adults and a new study on how monitoring work productivity provides unique insight into whether a patient will require additional treatments to achieve long term remission. One in every six adults will have a diagnosable major depressive disorder in their lifetime; in a 12 month period nearly seven percent of adults will meet diagnostic criteria for depression. Depression, especially when left untreated, can be a significant drain on the American economy. Afterward, we discussed an overview of the prevalence of post-traumatic stress in the community. Lastly, board member and founding CEO of Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute discusses the Texas Veterans Family Alliance Grant Program. A program that will help improve quality of life for Texas veterans and their families by increasing access to mental health treatment and services. Also, discusses the passing of SB 55 in the 84th legislative session in moving towards increasing access to mental health care in the state of Texas. Episode #636 The Community Affairs programming for NBC 5, Five Talk Street, aired on Sunday, Dec. 4, 2016 at 11:30AM. In this program, marketing and communications director for the Heard Natural Science Museum and Wildlife Sanctuary discusses the upcoming exhibits The Heard has to offer year round, especially things to do during the holidays. The Heard is a private, nonprofit organization that consists of a 289 acre nature preserve and museum. Their mission is to bring nature and people together through educational programs for all ages. We also had a discussion on The Greatest Gift Catalog Ever. The Greatest Gift Catalog Ever is a high quality holiday gift magazine that offers many alternatives to traditional gifts. This year, the catalog featured 25 local nonprofits, each with very specific needs. Donors can either make a straight donation to the organization of their choice, or they can obtain a holiday gift card in any amount for their friends or family to donate to any charity that they choose in the catalog. Next, executive director for the Soupmobile discusses Home for the Holidays campaign. With partnership from NBC 5 and the Dallas Omni Hotel, viewers are encouraged to give the minimum of $12 to raise enough money to help a homeless family have rent for an apartment, food, utilities for one year. Afterward, Director of Communications for Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute discusses the Okay To Say Campaign, which focuses on taking the stigma out of having mental health issues. Also, discusses the resources that are available for people having mental health issues during the holidays. Lastly, we discussed the 2016 Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl, featuring Louisiana Tech and the U.S. Naval Academy. Owned and operated by ESPN Events, the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl has featured the "armed forces" theme since 2006. Patriotic overtones recognizing all five branches of the services are prevalent throughout the game. The Bowl includes fan-fest areas showcasing armed forces hardware; flyovers, demonstrations by several of the military's top skydiving teams, and much more.
