During this quarter KATU supported the educational and informational needs of children with on-air news and local programming along with "Bring Your Daughter & Sons to Work Day" and station tours. KATU news covered stories about children and window safety, kids and online privacy, limiting children's screen time a bullied boy getting brand name shoes from an older boy at school, kids working to support clean water for people around the world, kids working together to promote multiculturalism, siblings helping to fight hunger in their Washington community and more. AM Northwest included segments on mothering with courage, kids and juice, teaching kids about financial planning, and a treatment center which helps teenage girls with eating disorders. In June, KATU partnered with the Oregon College Savings Plan with their Summer Reading Giveaway to encourage kids to read and visit their local libraries to find books to read during the summer. On April 27, Bring Your Daughters and Sons to Work Day, KATU employees brought 10 children ages 8-17 to work with them. Also during 2nd Quarter, KATU conducted 6 station tours for children for a total of 147 kids from ages 6-18 from the area.
