Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Superbook takes our main characters - Chris, Joy and Gizmo - back to the time of David at many great events in his life. The first event presents us during the time that he was a young shepherd watching over a flock of sheep. The Prophet Samuel visits his father, Jesse and makes a selection of the next King of Israel among his sons. In a surprising turn, the prophet selects the youngest among them in David. After David's selection, Superbook takes our main characters to another time of his life. This time, they witness David kill a giant named Goliath during the battle between the Israelite's and the Philistines at the war front. This made him extremely popular among his people that made King Saul extremely jealous. King Saul tried to make attempts in killing David but was unsuccessful. Later, when David had the opportunity of killing the king, he decided not to do it to prove that he isn't an enemy. It was both an entertaining and exciting episode as we witness great events in the life of David especially his battle with Goliath. Also, it was nice for Chris, Joy and Gizmo to witness the different events of his life before he became the King of Israel. Finally, we learn how arrogance can destroy a man like King Saul and how God will punish him for it.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The battle is on between Baal and our Almighty God when Superbook takes back our main characters - Chris, Joy and Gizmo - during the time of Elijah. The first part that they reached was when Elijah was staying with a widow and her daughter. They were providing for the prophet. In the later part, we get to see at the time when King Ahab permitted the worship of Baal. To enhance his decision of this worship, he decided to let the prophets of Baal engage in a warfare between them and Elijah to prove the credibility of their god and disprove God's existence. The battle became interesting in the sense that they tried to have Baal and God set fire in the altar. The prophets of Baal prayed so hard for three hours but to no avail. As for Elijah, he asked the altar to be watered and the surroundings be placed with a canal of water. In a few minutes, there was fire in the altar. This was nice to see the battle between Baal and God to prove that the latter is the true and living almighty God. Also, it presents us events that God will never fore sake us just like what he did to Elijah. Finally, one can never be sure of what God will ask you to do. In this case, Elijah was taken care of a widow and her daughter - people who least likely would take care of a prophet considering they themselves are having difficulty in meeting their everyday needs due to poverty and hardship.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	In Flaming Chariots, Superbook takes our main characters - Chris, Joy and Gizmo - during the time of Elisha, a prophet anointed by Elijah to be his successor. They witnessed two events. First, they saw the healing of Syrian military commander General Naaman of leprosy. The Syrian went to see Elisha and asked the prophet to cure him. Unfortunately, he told him to go bath in the Jordan River seven times and he would be clean. Naaman got angry but his servant asked him to try it. The Syrian went to the Jordan River and he was healed. The second event was the battle between the Israelites and Syrians. The Syrian soldiers were about to attack them but Elisha prayed to God. With his prayer, the Syrians became blind as they were about to attack the Israelites which allowed the latter to win the war. This was a great episode for our young viewers as they realized the great effects of having faith in God such as healing in the case of Naaman and achieving the impossible in terms with the battle between the Syrians and Israelites.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	After meeting Ruth in Mother's Day, Superbook takes back Chris and Joy together with the robot, Gizmo back in time to meet another great female character in the Old Testament. She is Queen Esther, who happens to be the wife of a Persian king, King Xerxes. It starts when King Xerxes appoints Haman to a high position. He is angry with Mordecai, a Jew who happens to be Queen Esther's father, because he does not bow to him. This leads Haman to order for the destruction of the Jews. Mordecai asked Esther to intercede to the king to stop this. One evening during the banquet, Esther declared her ethnicity and asked that her life be spared and the lives of her people, the Jews of the Persian Empire, who were the people Haman had previously convinced the king must be massacred. Haman's treachery so inflamed the king that he left the banquet. Eventually, the destruction of Queen Esther and the Jews were prevented. Although the episode underplays the complexity of the whole story of Esther for simplicity's sake, young viewers get to realize the importance for standing up for one's principles and for others.

SUPERBOOK intercedes and whisks our young heroes off on a journey to discover the true meaning of Christmas. The first event presents us during the time that he was a young shepherd watching over a flock of sheep. The Prophet Samuel visits his father, Jesse and makes a selection of the next King of Israel among his sons. In a surprising turn, the prophet selects the youngest among them in David. After David's selection, Superbook takes our main characters to another time of his life. This time, they witness David kill a giant named Goliath during the battle between the Israelite's and the Philistines at the war front. This made him extremely popular among his people that made King Saul extremely jealous. King Saul tried to make attempts in killing David but was unsuccessful. Later, when David had the opportunity of killing the king, he decided not to do it to prove that he isn't an enemy. It was both an entertaining and exciting episode as we witness great events in the life of David especially his battle with Goliath. Also, it was nice for Chris, Joy and Gizmo to witness the different events of his life before he became the King of Israel. Finally, we learn how arrogance can destroy a man like King Saul and how God will punish him for it.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The battle is on between Baal and our Almighty God when Superbook takes back our main characters - Chris, Joy and Gizmo - during the time of Elijah. The first part that they reached was when Elijah was staying with a widow and her daughter. They were providing for the prophet. In the later part, we get to see at the time when King Ahab permitted the worship of Baal. To enhance his decision of this worship, he decided to let the prophets of Baal engage in a warfare between them and Elijah to prove the credibility of their god and disprove God's existence. The battle became interesting in the sense that they tried to have Baal and God set fire in the altar. The prophets of Baal prayed so hard for three hours but to no avail. As for Elijah, he asked the altar to be watered and the surroundings be placed with a canal of water. In a few minutes, there was fire in the altar. This was nice to see the battle between Baal and God to prove that the latter is the true and living almighty God. Also, it presents us events that God will never fore sake us just like what he did to Elijah. Finally, one can never be sure of what God will ask you to do. In this case, Elijah was taken care of a widow and her daughter - people who least likely would take care of a prophet considering they themselves are having difficulty in meeting their everyday needs due to poverty and hardship.

In Flaming Chariots, Superbook takes our main characters - Chris, Joy and Gizmo - during the time of Elisha, a prophet anointed by Elijah to be his successor. They witnessed two events. First, they saw the healing of Syrian military commander General Naaman of leprosy. The Syrian went to see Elisha and asked the prophet to cure him. Unfortunately, he told him to go bath in the Jordan River seven times and he would be clean. Naaman got angry but his servant asked him to try it. The Syrian went to the Jordan River and he was healed. The second event was the battle between the Israelites and Syrians. The Syrian soldiers were about to attack them but Elisha prayed to God. With his prayer, the Syrians became blind as they were about to attack the Israelites which allowed the latter to win the war. This was a great episode for our young viewers as they realized the great effects of having faith in God such as healing in the case of Naaman and achieving the impossible in terms with the battle between the Syrians and Israelites.
