Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	"Teen Kids News" covers a wide range of topics -- from hard-hitting facts about the Iraq war and life after Sept. 11 to ways to tell whether a boy or girl is right for you that are usually specifically tailored toward the teen audience. The show is anchored and reported completely by teens (both boys and girls) from a range of diverse backgrounds. Some topics may be difficult for sensitive younger teens, and some mature teens may find the format corny -- but for most, this series presents a peer-oriented opportunity for them to learn about real happenings in their world. Families can talk about the specific stories that are covered in each episode. Teens interested in a particular topic may want to dig up more information through the Internet or via a trip to the library.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	See WFIE Issues and Programs Report for public service announcements designed specifically for children. "The More You Know's" comprehensive website (www.themoreyouknow.com) focuses on education, diversity, health, Internet safety and the environment. Established in 1989, The More You Know addresses the nation's most pressing social issues and remains a trusted voice for sharing knowledge to improve lives. WFIE Meteorologist's Jeff Lyons and Byron Douglas visit area schools to discuss weather-related studies. See Issues and Programs Report for list of schools and organizations visited. Numerous other 14 News Anchors and other personnel speak to local organizations as well. See Issues and Programs Report for these listings as well. WFIE conducts station tours and participates in "job shadow" days to give groups, individuals and organizations a "behind-the-scenes" look at broadcasting. Visitors see the various departments in the station and explain their functions, as well as the various jobs available in each department and the education needed to secure a job in broadcasting. Groups sit in on a newscast and are provided the opportunity to ask questions. See Issues and Programs Report for listing of tour groups and job shadow participants during current quarter.
