Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	In each episode the cameras follow Jack Hanna as he spends time with nature's creatures across the continents. Jack talks with people that are knowledgeable about each animal and habitat, teaching as he goes. Each episode is designed to reveal to children the world around them in a way that presents positive role models and pro-social values within an environmentally responsible universe. Jack conveys a sense of hand-on, experiential learning that is essential to a positive learning process. His enthusiasm for the animals is contagious and his content is informative without the audience feeling that they are being "taught." The show offers its young audience the opportunity to understand our environment, particularly the delicate balance between nature and development. As a result, viewers can develop the ability to make decisions on environmental issues and take responsible action on behalf of the environment. This program is specifically designed to further the educational and informational needs of children, has educating and informing children as a significant purpose, and otherwise meets the definition of Core Programming as specified in the Commission's rules.

See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	STATION TOURS of KGTV are offered to children of all ages - from Scout groups eager to learn about the television business to high school and college students interested in Broadcasting and Journalism careers. Kids get an extensive tour of the station, have an opportunity to get in front of the camera and even watch a live newscast. KGTV is also the media sponsor for the San Diego Festival of Science and Engineering. The San Diego Festival of Science and Engineering is a ten-day educational experience including interactive demonstrations, hands-on activities and dynamic speakers to engage kids and families in all that encompasses STEM (science, technology, engineering and math). This event is free and open to the public with an anticipated attendance of more than 75,000 kids, parents, teachers, industry leaders and community members. After due review of internal station records and documentation provided to us by program suppliers, the licensee hereby certifies as follows: (1) the only programs specifically designed for children twelve and under that the station broadcast this quarter are disclosed in this report and (2) the licensee fully complied with the FCC's commercial limits, as specified at 47 C.F.R. Section 73.670, with respect to these programs.
