Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Educational institutions would love to be able to go as far and wide and as fun with information as On The Spot does. Schools fall into single subject tracks in middle and high school. Linking information to multiple experiences is more effective for learning so imagine how effective a program can be when it links information across King Tut Stonehenge aliens camping biking and food. Which is what On The Spot does. Well researched facts on high interest topics delivered with bright fast visuals will feed the interests of a broad audience group but the approach does particularly well for the 13 to 16 yearold target audience. Archeology science and astronomy become fascinating by the clever culling of information. The programs are built with an approach that on the surface appears to be directed for adult. But Pete Sepenuks narrative tone and style light and fascinated matches and holds the attention of the target audience. And once it holds attention, what On The Spot does very well is deliver excellent informational content. And for the target audience, it is essential that the information is not dumbed down. It is not in On The Spot.
