Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	During this quarter KATU supported the educational and informational needs of children with on-air news and local programming and station tours. KATU news covered stories about all day kindergarten in Washington state, how doctors grew a new jaw for an 11 year old girl, the dangers of children accidentally overdosing on medication, (which was part of a week of stories during Poison Prevention Week), a consumer report about strollers, 2nd graders in Corvallis learning with I-pads, how peanuts can help prevent childhood obesity, kids' snoring, toxins at a daycare, immunization clinics, a hover board fire, and more. Local program AM Northwest included segments on teaching children leadership skills early, and why it is a good idea to parents to give children choices but why they should never ask for children's permission. Along with on-air programming, KATU also conducted 2 group tours during first quarter, that have included children, totaling about 18 kids aged 8-14 years old.
