Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Noodle and Doodle, an instructional series, features creating art projects and cooking projects around a specific theme. Host, Sean, drives around in a double-decker bus fully equipped with art supplies and a kitchen, ready for any assignment. The projects encourage parent engagement and often feature families working together to make something to display within the child's home. Sean's side-kick, Doggity, is an ever-faithful beagle who transforms into an animated character during interstitial trips to a parallel universe, set in a kitchen full of prank-playing animated characters. The art projects typically promote utilizing recycled materials in order to demonstrate that creativity can transform something intended for one purpose into something that achieves a completely different goal. Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Nina's World is a childhood adventure series, which re-imagines a childhood for the character Nina, host of the Sprout Good Night Show. Nina is a six-year-old Latina, living in San Antonio, Texas. She is exposed to adults and children from many cultures who live in her immediate neighborhood and the mixed use housing complex, where her parents own a bakery downstairs from their apartment. Nina manages to create regular adventures with her friends, her parents and the grown ups, too, because she is curious and determined to overreach her abilities in pursuit of her goals. Nina models resilience as there is not a day where she doesn't reflect on her encounters with good natured common sense and an ability to rebound after her mistakes. Main Digital.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Ruff-Ruff, Tweet and Dave is a preschool adventure/activity show where the lead characters travel to faraway lands to have adventures with their guide, a hamster named Hatty. Ruff-Ruff, the dog, is the most playful of the three; Tweet is a little bird who loves to fly and get creative with her suggestions; and Dave the Panda has a thing for bananas. RRTD might go to the beach, or the mountains, or to strange lands with pillows everywhere; just the sort of place where imagination and logic come together. The settings are always brightly colored and beautiful. And their transport vehicles are Roly-pods, artful go carts that fit on a spiral ramp that folds in and out of the Spin-again, a colorful round spinning top with special compartments designed to anchor each vehicle right on the outside rim during the journey. Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Astroblast, based on the book series by author and illustrator Bob Kolar, is set on a space station in an unknown solar system. Five animal characters and one three-eyed octopus of unknown derivation populate the station. Each episode begins with an everyday conversation or incident that grows into a predicament needing a solution. While these predicaments take place in a fantasy environment, the issues and resolutions resonate for a preschool audience. Through comedy and zippy action, our target audience sees how the characters learn lessons for practical living such as how to keep track of things that belong to you, practice good habits, clean up when you've made a mess, rebound from a failure or an embarrassing incident, or resist the urge to blame others for your mistakes. Email Address	WDRAPER@HEARST.COM
Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	One or more episodes of children's programming that was preempted during the quarter was not rescheduled. The Digital Core Programming Summary section of this report would not permit the station to include preemption reports for such unrescheduled preemptions, and FCC Staff has advised that no preemption report for such unrescheduled episodes is necessary. During this quarter, WBAL-TV scheduled three additional episodes of the regularly scheduled core children's program, "Teen Kids News." In each instance that such episodes aired, that created a series of "mini marathons" of the program at points throughout the quarter. These additional airings of the program were intended to help increase audience awareness of the program and to further educate and inform teen children viewers about topical, current news events, during a significant election year, in a city where significant events were occurring. The station notified listing guides about these additional core episodes, and the station aired an informational crawl to promote the Special Edition episodes. On June 12, 2016, NBC Network aired breaking news coverage of the tragedy in Orlando. The coverage resulted in the preemption of the following Children's programs: Teen Kids News 12:00-12:30PM and 12:30-1:00PM.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	TEEN KIDS NEWS is a dynamic television news program for teens and preteens. This weekly program provides information and news to students in a way that's both educational and entertaining. Young people are the focus of the program. All of the stories are in their own words. This program inserts the clear, informed voice of the students into their adult-dominated media and provides a unique perspective that is not currently available on network news programs. Weekly Reader provides educational content and works with teachers nationwide to download scripts to teach public speaking, reading, and writing skills. During 3rd quarter, WBAL-TV will air four additional episodes of the regularly scheduled core children's program, "Teen Kids News." In each instance, that will create a series of "mini marathons" of the program at points throughout the quarter. These additional airings of the program are intended to help increase audience awareness of the program and to further educate and inform teen children viewers about topical, current news events, during a significant election year, in a city where significant events were occurring. The station will notify listing guides about these additional core episodes, and the station will air an informational crawl to promote the Special Edition episodes. Main Digital.
