| Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming. | This nationally syndicated television program is designed to engage children 13-16 years in age in a variety of marine research efforts as well as address ecological issues. By using young people as hosts, the "Aqua Kids" to teach other young people about the diversity and beauty of the marine environment and its potential destruction by pollution and carelessness of human populations, they can spread the message of "ocean preservation" to their peers. This program is specifically designed to further the educational and informational needs of children, has educating and informing children as a significant purpose, and otherwise meets the definition of Core Programming as specified in the Commission's rules. |

| Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming. | LOOK KOOL's male host Hamza, interacts with an animated robot cat, a historical guest (played by Hamza in costume), children, and other animated creatures. The basic premise of the show is the idea that math is everywhere and each episode includes real children who help Hamza solve mathematical or scientific curiosities. Look Kool works hard to highlight for learners the link between the lesson and real life in order to activate and keep the children's interest. Live action children in real world settings put the lesson of the episode into action by seeking its values within everyday life. Look Kool is a highly educational program and speaks to the curious minds and active imaginations of elementary age kids and encourages the transfer of knowledge out into one's everyday life. |
