Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The program follows eight young adults through a carefully orchestrated extreme adventure in the deserts and mountains of Arizona and New Mexico. During their time, the group lives its adventure 24 hours a day, saying goodbye to their normal lives and hello to an experience they will never forget. Every episode presents a heart stopping extreme adventure along with an opportunity to discuss that experience and its application to major real life issues. These experiences then help each cast member develop his or her own individual conviction about each of the moral issues. Additionally, the show maximizes excitement and spontaneity. Therefore, the only rule for ULTIMATE CHOICE is that there are no rules. The possibilities are endless as each day also includes other outrageous games, challenges, and surprising twists...all for the sake of variety and good television.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	"Many of the goals for students in the intermediate and upper grades are underpinnings for this series of weekly programs broadcast throughout the year. The programs deliver content as an entertaining, humorous and fascinating look at current events and other "news stories" of interest to students of this age group. TEEN KIDS NEWS is a fast paced program in the 13 - 16 year old FCC children's programming category composed of shorter segments that "fit" the visual learning style of today's students and is composed of many segments that vary from program to program and year to year."
